The Future Is...
"The future is... bright... bleak... inclusive... exclusive... out of control... our responsibility..."
This virtual workshop will be a place for re-imagining a future we individually and collectively want to be part of and what to create. Poet Jena Schwartz will guide us through a thought journey that considers our individual and communal sense of place and the role of language and reflection. Such an exercise will allow us to realize the relationship between our words and our actions. Join us for an evening of connecting, brainstorming, and exchanging resources and ideas. Expect to come away feeling connected, engaged, and hopeful about the future that is each of us.

How to "Win" at Hacks for Humanity
What is the spirit of this hacking event for the social good? What does a "successful" team look like? How can Hacks for Humanity alumni utilize resources to bring their ideas to market? This program brings together past winners, presenters and judges to share tips, best practices and secrets to help you win in all aspects of the upcoming 8th Annual Hacks for Humanity.

Student Opportunities

Project Humanities welcomes all Arizona high school students to compete in our Humanity 101 Contest that challenges young people to write a personal essay, a poem or reflection or create a multimedia piece or physical art presentation that connects to the Humanity 101 principles.

Arizona State University undergraduates are invited to apply for the Project Humanities Research Ambassador Program. Participants are provided the opportunity to work with a faculty member and the Project Humanities team to complete and present an applied research project involving a social justice issue.

Application deadline is Monday, September 21, 2021 for both.

To learn more about these opportunities, click the links below. Please contact the Project Humanities with any questions.

Undergraduate Ambassador Program

We are only 3 Founders away from reaching our goal of 101 Founders!

Are you excited about all that Project Humanities brings to the world? Support our work by becoming a Founder. Founders are individuals, groups, and organizations who invest at least $1,000 (tax-deductible) in our Project Humanities programming.

Such an investment can also take the form of a pledge of installments.

Seeking participants, volunteers and mentors for our annual Hacks for Humanity: Hacking for the Social Good!

This October 8th-10th marks the Project Humanities 8th Annual Hacks for Humanity. This signature event brings together techies and non-techies, high school students through retirees, amateur coders and pros from all over the world. We look forward to another successful virtual iteration of this fun, inspiring, and creative weekend; made possible by State Farm and ASU J. Orin Edson Entrepreneurship + Innovation Institute.

We are looking for business, tech and design mentors to help teams create the best possible products. We are looking for volunteers to help the Project Humanities team run the event smoothly.

Homeless Outreach Updates

Service Saturdays distributions are temporarily on hiatus for September. As a partner of the Human Services Campus, we have been asked to suspend our efforts due to the rising COVID-19 cases in Maricopa County.

Friday sorting and the monthly Donation Challenges continue.

For August's 10 years of TLC homeless outreach Donation Challenge, supporters contributed 328 pairs of women's underwear, 464 pairs of men's underwear and 98 reusable water bottles!

Let's keep the generosity going with very important September challenge.

September Challenge: Healthy Snacks and Backpacks

The deadline for drop-off is Friday, September 24. Drive through the ASU Project Humanities donation site between 2:00pm 4:00pm at 200 E. Curry Road, Tempe, 85281. Or leave us a voicemail to arrange a pickup date and time at 480-727-7030.

And as always, please check our Amazon Wishlist!
